The glasses of faith - John 14:8-11

Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. John 14:9 (ESV)

Wouldn’t it be wonderful to see God! I don’t know about you, but I would love to see God in person, to see a physical presence and to have a clear picture of what he is like. In this era of wonderful technology we are seeing more and more of the world, both on a minute scale such as the intricate parts of cells, and on a vast scale in space. We are a generation where seeing is believing!

The builders of the Tower of Babel in Old Testament times probably had the same thought! People at the time wanted to know God, to interact with him and spend time with Him.

When I was growing up I was taught that it was man’s attempt to reach up to heaven, get closer to God and hopefully become like God. However reading I have done recently suggests that the opposite could be true – they built the tower to make a way for God to get down from Heaven and come to earth to spend time with them. Either way, even though the scheme was entirely unsuccessful, I think it points us to the fact that people throughout history have always wanted to see God and know him closely.

But how can we see God? How can we capture his image to enable us to know him and who he is? Only one way – we can see the image of God and who he is by looking at him through his son, by seeing him through the death and resurrection of Jesus. By looking at God through Jesus, we can see and get to know a God who loves us, and who would stop at nothing in his plan to ensure each one of us remains a part of him and a part of his family.

Jesus says in John, “Whoever has seen me has seen the Father.”

Once again, we cannot have the privilege of a glimpse of Jesus in person or through a photo or film clip. But we can know that Jesus came to earth and lived among the people of the time from many historical records. And that is where the glasses of faith come in – when we look through the glasses of faith and Jesus, the face of God goes from blurred or indistinguishable to a God we can begin to recognise and know, a God who loves us.

What a joy when we put on those glasses of faith, and have a view of the God who loves us and yearns for us!

Principal’s Page

St Jakobi, as with all schools, continues to be a busy place of learning and growth. Here at the school we are part of many programs and opportunities that make the school a vibrant community and ensure that as a community we learn and grow together. The focus of these activities is not always about student learning. At St Jakobi we believe that learning is a life-long activity, and want students to grow up looking at learning in this way. Thus some of the opportunities we have here at school are for staff and parents, to give us all the opportunity to challenge our thinking, take on new ideas and make use of current research.

St Jakobi has just joined up to be part of the Eat Well Be Active program for 2012-13. We have been part of this program for the last two years. During 2010 we looked at healthy eating, and used this as a catalyst for starting the school garden and starting the canteen based on healthy eating principles. We also developed a scope and sequence for the areas of PE and health from Reception to Year 7.

In 2011 our focus was on staff growing in their understanding of the range of fundamental movement skills all children need to enable them to take part in physical activity successfully. This involved itemising the skills, identifying what is good movement, and understanding how to assist children in changing to a better style when their natural movement is stopping progression ie using the arms for enhance forward propulsion when running. We incorporated these skills in reports last year to give parents a clearer picture of what basic movements students are doing well, and where they would benefit from extra practice at home in the family situation eg throwing or catching.

Our first goal for 2012 is to look at our fitness program, starting with latest research on the link between physical activity and fitness and also physical activity and learning, which is very strong. Once we have been through this process, we will then look at our whole school program, and see how it fits with all the latest research. We are working with specialists in the field of physical education and physical activity, which is a wonderful opportunity for learning and growth. We plan to incorporate a parent information evening later in the year to share with parents the latest research about activity and its relationship to child development. We will also begin looking at our PE skills lessons, and during 2012/13 review our PE policy and curriculum.

Aligned with this is an initiative by the P&F who have organised a guest speaker from Additive Alert to come and speak to parents as part of the Eat Well component of the program. The overuse of additives in commercially prepared food is something that, as parents and individuals, we need to be aware of – these additives do have an affect, and it is only through educating ourselves that we can work to combat some of the issues that all our children face due to them. I commend this night to you as another facet of assisting all children to reach their potential through the team of parent and school – this night is free to parents of the St Jakobi community. My sincere thanks to P&F for making this opportunity a reality.

We have had some changes of staff in the last few weeks. Mrs Naomi Duggan, who has been standing in for Mrs Tschark in the front office, has been successful in gaining a job at Faith Lutheran College. We thank Naomi for the wonderful way in which she stepped into the office role this year, and wish her every blessing as she commences full-time employment across at our sister school. I visited Mrs Amanda Tschark in hospital last week, and can let you know that, although thoroughly sick of lying on her side, she is now progressing well, and will be released from hospital towards the end of April. Please continue to keep her in your prayers. Miss Berzins became Mrs Schultz on the weekend – she was an exquisite bride! We will share photos as they become available.

The Airshow committee met for the post-November Airshow debrief meeting last week. I can now let the school community know that we definitely have enough funds from the Airshow to build stage one of a playground at a cost of just over $30,000 – an amazing outcome considering the costs of the cancelled May Airshow had to be factored in. Well done everyone!! As well as this our students will have the honour of presenting a cheque to Camp Quality with part proceeds to assist them in the amazing work they do to support children with cancer. This will occur in the next couple of weeks at chapel – stay tuned for the date! We are about to set the date for the next Airshow – will let you know how many sleeps in the next newsletter!

May God bless your week,
Kathryn

Happy Birthday

Robin Mann is an Adelaide songwriter. He has written songs for the Australian church for over 30 years. His songs feature in the five All Together songbooks from Open book Publishers, Adelaide. They have also been part of National Christian Youth Conventions (NCYC - Uniting Church) since 1975.

Please join us at Chapel this week where Robin will be our guest and present a number of his songs to us.

The Reception and R/1 class
The reception and R/1 class have been out and about learning all they can about their local community. We have gone out and looked around Lyndoch and Williamstown. Sami and Wayne Dutschke came into school to show us why the Barossa is a special wine making region. The CFS came to school and talked about how they keep our community safe and we were lucky enough to visit Henry’s farm, where we saw horses, sheep, chickens and a huge veggie patch. We were lucky enough to find, pull out and eat our own carrots.

St Jakobi Students and families taking part in World’s Greatest Shave
A quick reminder that the world’s greatest shave is taking place later this week. Please don’t forget to support the following St Jakobi families and students who are taking part:
- Ebony, Brody and Belinda Wilton
  "Team Oma"
- Lily Melville
  “Team Juniors”
All money raised goes directly to the Leukemia Foundation.
